Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to new claims 13-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

2. Claims 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsumagari et al. (US 6,480,669) in view of Downs et al. (US 6,574,609).

Regarding claim 13, Tsumagari discloses and meets the limitations associated with a video recording/reproducing method and apparatus capable of recording to a medium and reproducing video from the medium comprising:

- means for recording (Figs. 26, 29) video and ID signals (Fig. 39) indicating the content of the video, into a record medium (Fig. 6, "text data", Figs. 10, 11, 38, see playback and read management data);
- means for generating a title list of videos recorded in the record medium using the ID signals (Fig. 39, also col. 31, lines 11-48, "'Cinderella" is extracted from the closed caption data").

Tsumagari fails to disclose means for receiving user indication and sorting and providing sorted title list to the user.

Downs teaches at col. 85, lines 50-67, means for users to sort play lists by name, category and keyword, also sort by artist, label and other, as taught by Downs.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to modify Tsumagari by incorporating a means to sort the play list as taught by Downs in order to allow users to organize the play list based on column attributes as desired.

Regarding claim 14, the combination as applied provides for sorting video titles in order of title, classification (see category) and other but, fails to particularly sort by date, but, the claim alternatively claims recording in response to a received user indication (met by initiating recording by the user, also the user triggers recording entry points, col. 29, line 65 to col. 30, line 20).

The examiner further takes official noticed that it is well known to sort by an attribute such as date and further renders it obvious to sort by a date field, as well as other fields, as is obvious to those skilled in the art.

Regarding claim 15, the combination as applied above further provides for means for sorting sorts the titles of the recorded video that has been automatically recorded by a timer in the video signal R/R apparatus that have not been reproduced, in the order of recording (sort by on the Mark-Rec-Date fields in Fig. 39, also there is a timer record and playback features to set events, see col. 25, lines 54-60 and col. 27, lines 10-17).

Regarding claims 16-18, based on the combination, renders obvious to reproduce sequentially videos in the sorted title list and providing an introduction in the form of a Thumbnail or image, in the play list in Fig. 39, which is reproduced from the medium, which are sequential with respect to the play list.

Claims 19-24 are deemed analyzed and discussed with respect to the claims above.

Conclusion

1. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
